

SPARKLING

London Docks... the aroma of spices lingering between its warehouses, with their far-famed wine cellars... When one talks of the Thames docks, "beauty" is a vain word, but romance has lived too long upon this river not to have thrown a mantle of glamour upon its banks.' - Joseph Conrad

Port has been shipped to the Docklands since the 18th century and rose in popularity when wars with the French and Spanish cut off traditional markets. The wines did not travel well so they were fortified with Brandy to preserve the wine. The English developed a taste for these sweeter wines marking the birth of Port and its treasured place in our culture.
